jewellery designer

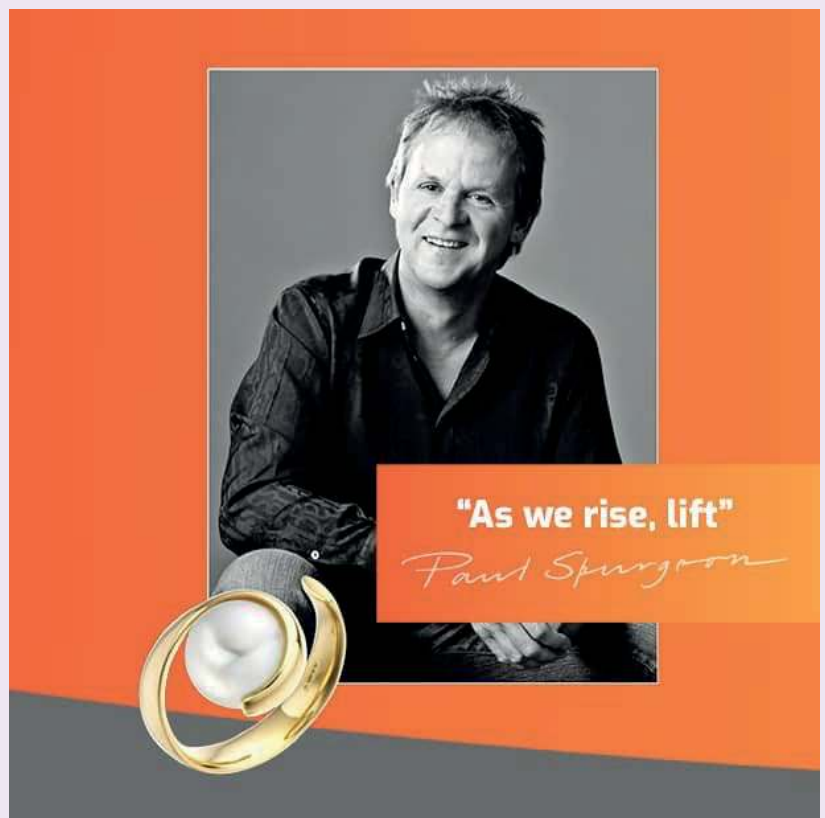

Paul Spurgeon

Paul Spurgeon is an award-winning jewellery designer who has won considerable acclaim for his innovative pieces for men and women.

Twice awarded the prestigious title of UK Jewellery Designer of the Year, Paul works predominantly using platinum and cut diamonds for his organic, gravity-defying designs, which he creates from his workshop.

Paul never strived to be unique in design, it naturally flows from his collaborative approach with people he works with.

A born belief that 'less is more' leaves design nowhere to hide and gives rise to creating fluid movement that hugs a form or the diamond to make it the 'hero' of the jewellery, great design means nothing can be added and nothing can be taken away.

A large part of Paul's ethos is based on Christian beliefs and a mantra 'As you rise, lift' this is reflected in my approach in both my personal and business lives. I believe in collaboration in the form of social enterprise that seeks to improve the lives of the impoverished and challenged. More an appeal to those seeking a cleanliness of line, embracing the best materials available culminating in a statement piece with material ethically and responsibly sourced.
